Tara Memi

Tara Memi started dancing at the age of 3, and by the age of 10, knew she wanted to be a professional dancer. At 18 years old she landed a job working for Disneyland in Tokyo, and shortly after returning home, was hired as a Radio City Rockette.

Since then, Tara has had a 15 year career with the legendary Rockettes, achieving goals such as being a Rockette Swing, Dance Captain, and Assistant Choreographer. Tara has performed with the Rockettes on The Today Show, The Ellen DeGeneres Show, The Tonight Show with Jay Leno, and Dancing With The Stars.

Tara has always loved performing, but is also a master teacher and choreographer.

Bridget Schumacher

Bridget was fortunate to become a student of yoga in January 2013. Like many others, Bridget's relationship with yoga began with curiosity; it started to heal her body of physical injury and damage from activities she participated in her past. As her physical practice developed, a deeper sense of self-awareness began to cultivate. She began to connect to the spiritual realm of the practice, which led her to seek Ashtanga. Bridget's Ashtanga journey started in 2016 under the guidance of David Miliotis. She is drawn to the Ashtanga system as a means of bringing discipline, structure, and balance into her life.

Bridget continues to make a daily visit to her mat, and currently practices the primary, intermediate, and a portion of the advanced A series of the Ashtanga system. She has had the privilege to study with many respected teachers throughout the world, including Tim Miller, Jorgen Christiansson, Mark Robberds, and Harmony Slater, among others.

Amidst the clear structure of Ashtanga, Bridget brings playfulness and lightness to the practice, which you will be sure to experience when you join her
